IF YOU GO DOWN TO THE WOODS ...

.....within half of mile of Mayfield High Street you'll find Jubilee Woods on both sides of the A267 bypass, once the route of the Cuckoo Line Railway. Owned by Mayfield Parish Council and named during the 2012 Queen's Jubilee, a woodland management team of mainly volunteers have transformed the once dense and overgrown woods into a safe and interesting place for families. Circular paths have been created and the trees, once overcrowded, can now spread their branches and the woodland floor is light enough for wild flowers such as bluebells and anemones to spread.

The northern part, accessed through the Victorian railway tunnel in Rotherfield Lane, is being developed as a nature trail with a bug hotel, fire pit and some seating. Trees are identified with small signs and visitors are encouraged to let us know what species of birds, animals and insects they spot.

Our experienced local woodsman is happy to meet groups of children to talk about nature. A path round the southern wood in Love Lane has been cleared for dog walkers.
